

LAB ____: CLONING PAPER PLASMID

In this exercise you will use paper to simulate the cloning of a gene from one organism into a bacterial plasmid using a restriction enzyme digest. The plasmid (puc18 plasmid) can then be used to transform bacteria so that it now expresses a new gene and produces a new protein.

1. From the white paper, cut out the puc18 plasmid DNA in a long strip.

AAATCGTTTGC

2. Attach the ends together to make a loop to simulate the circular DNA of a plasmid.

3. From the green paper, cut out the Jellyfish Glo gene DNA in a long strip. Leave it as a straight strip. (This is a gene from a vertebrate not a bacterium, so it is not circular.)

GGATCGAAAGC

The start and stop sequences for transcribing the Jellyfish GFP or Glo gene are highlighted. These are needed to transcribe the gene properly when it is read.

In addition, the *Hind*III & *Eco*R1 restriction enzyme cutting sites (sequences of bases) are marked in bold on the Jellyfish Glo gene DNA. The two restriction enzymes and their respective restriction sites are listed below. These enzymes act as "molecular scissors" to cut the DNA at these sequences in the DNA:

Restriction enzyme	Recognition site (5'→3')
Hind III	A ↓AGCT T
	T TCGA↑ A
Eco R1	G ↓AATT C
	C TTAA↑ G

The six letter sequence represents the nitrogen base sequence that the enzyme recognizes, and ↓ represents the place where the DNA will be cut by the enzyme. For example, *Hind*III cuts between A and A whenever it encounters the six base sequence AAGCTT.

4. Cut the green Jellyfish DNA as if you have used the a restriction enzyme, *Hind*III. Be sure to leave "sticky ends."
5. Also, cut the white puc18 plasmid DNA as if you have performed a restriction enzyme digest with *Hind*III. Be sure to leave "sticky ends."

The Recombinant University Doogab Yi, 2015-03-23 The advent of recombinant DNA technology in the 1970s was a key moment in the history of both biotechnology and the commercialization of academic research Doogab Yi's The Recombinant University draws us deeply into the academic community in the San Francisco Bay Area where the technology was developed and adopted as the first major commercial technology for genetic engineering In doing so it reveals how research patronage market forces and legal developments from the late 1960s through the early 1980s influenced the evolution of the technology and reshaped the moral and scientific life of biomedical researchers Bay Area scientists university administrators and government officials were fascinated by and increasingly engaged in the economic and political opportunities associated with the privatization of academic research Yi uncovers how the attempts made by Stanford scientists and administrators to demonstrate the relevance of academic research were increasingly mediated by capitalistic conceptions of knowledge medical innovation and the public interest Their interventions resulted in legal shifts and moral realignments that encouraged the privatization of academic research for public benefit The Recombinant University brings to life the hybrid origin story of biotechnology and the ways the academic culture of science has changed in tandem with the early commercialization of recombinant DNA technology
