

INTERVIEW

The interview was interesting as the interviewer asked me to describe myself. I acknowledged that currently, I am a junior at UNLV having finished my two-month internship Cowen Plaza in Yangzhou where I had volunteered at the front desk. During this internship, I managed to gather numerous practical skills from the different people I met at the marketing and sales departments. Moreover, I am undertaking a course in Hospitality Management.

I expressed my desire to get deeper in my career department, and was greatly looking forward to this opportunity. The interviewer then inquired about my interest in working at Starwood Hotel. I acknowledged that the hotel was my favorite hotel. In addition, its merger with Marriott would pose numerous challenges to it, a task that attracted me more to it as I am willing to grow with the chain to its potential.

Furthermore, the interviewer was interested to know what my long-term goals. I explained that if I were to get the job, I would solely focus on coming up to speed in my new position and setting out to learn more about this sector. I then moved on to my long-term goal, which was to advance through the ranks with experience and hard work to reach high management level. Notably, I hopefully wish to work as a VIP Server for the better part of my career.

Additionally, the interviewer asked me to describe what I thought my areas of strength and weakness were. I knew I had to present my strengths in way that relates to the job description and turn my weakness into a positive answer. I explained that I was a quick learner and adaptable, evident from my transition from China to USA. Moreover, my high GPA test results earned me a

Reclaiming the Teaching Discourse in Higher Education Ian M. Kinchin,2025-02-20 This book examines university teaching to encourage a move away from the singular lens of neoliberalism towards more a pluralistic stance that inspires a healthy diversity of theories and practices University teaching is dominated by neoliberal cultures of measurement consumerism and deficit generating a monocultural narrative that disenfranchises the higher education teaching community Collaborative communities of support are now perceived as performative regimes of surveillance and existing injustices in the education system have been amplified by institutional responses to the COVID 19 pandemic This book offers a reappraisal of the current state of university teaching and re imaginings of potential futures Inspired by emerging perspectives in educational research and building upon Biesta s notion of the rediscovery of teaching the book encourages an escape from accepted wisdom liberating teaching from the bonds of reductive binary and linear thinking and accepting the need for a plurality of theoretical perspectives While universities use popular terms such as student centredness global excellence active learning and so on and will highlight key performance metrics such as student satisfaction or teaching excellence awards the reality is that much current teaching practice is rather traditional teacher centred passive and content heavy Despite managerial emphasis on best practice and evidence based practice teaching is not reducible to a simple set of competencies and student learning is not adequately summarised as a list of graduate attributes Teaching is relational and highly context dependent and our discussion of teaching should recognise this The performative culture pervading many campuses can dampen down large scale innovation leaving marginalised pockets of subversive collaboration and experimentation to operate below the corporate radar Here the contributors give voice to some of those emerging ideas and challenge neoliberal orthodoxy
