Rivet Selection. The following rules should govern your selection and use of rivets:

1. Replacements must not be made with rivets of lower strength material unless they are larger than those removed. For example, a rivet of 2024 aluminum alloy should not be replaced by one made of 2017 aluminum alloy unless the 2017 rivet is a size larger.
2. Similarly, when 2117 rivets are used to replace 2017 rivets, the next larger size should be used.
3. When rivet holes become enlarged, deformed, or otherwise damaged, you should use the next larger size as replacement.
4. Countersunk-head rivets should be replaced by rivets of the same type and degree of countersink, either AN426 or MS20426.
