Sound Energy

Sound Energy

Does It Create Sound?

Draw a happy face if you think it and a sad face if you don't.

Answer the following questions by writing the answer in the space provided.

1. What kind of sound does an ice cream cone make?
2. What kind of sound does a bird make?
3. What kind of sound does a person make?

What is Sound?

Sound is made with vibrations. Whenever an object vibrates it causes air particles to move and bump to each other in wave like motions. We call these vibrations sound waves. Just like water ripples when you throw a stone into it, sound waves ripple and keep going until they run out of energy. Our ears vibrate in a similar way to the original source of the sound. This is how we hear different sounds.

High Frequency Sound
(short wavelength)

Low Frequency Sound
(long wavelength)

Push

The particles in the air are pushed and pulled back and forth as the sound wave passes.

SC.4.P.10.3

A cow makes a low sound when it moos, because the sound made by the cow vibrates very slowly.

A mouse can make a high squeak, because the sound made by the mouse vibrates very fast.
