American Otherness in Journalism Angie Chuang,2025-10-15 Offering a critical insight into the production gatekeeping and consumption of news in contemporary American society American Otherness in Journalism lays bare embedded cultural beliefs via mainstream news media to ask who gets to be represented as American and why In this book Angie Chuang argues that ever since the early 20th century when the idea of The Racial Melting Pot became popularized the dominant culture conceptualization of American identity is such that some residents have always been perceived as more American than others Combining close textual analysis of high profile case studies with media theories of false balance stereotypical selection default Whiteness and the protest paradigm Chuang demonstrates how news media practices have created a cultural context that excludes some Americans from fully belonging to American identity The nine news media case studies in American Otherness in Journalism span the first two decades of this century bracketed by the 9 11 terrorist attacks and the COVID 19 pandemic These narratives include news coverage of the undocumented mostly Latine youth pursuing residency through the DREAM Act DACA the Barack Obama birther debate the Charlottesville Unite the Right rally the Atlanta spa shootings and Breonna Taylor s killing prior to the 2020 summer of protest Showing how longstanding multicultural ideals about Americanness and racial equity were exposed dismantled and re examined in the news during this period this critical study provides a new analytical vocabulary with which to understand vital and difficult issues of Self and Other in our time An essential read for students practitioners and scholars of race reporting in the U S context this book will be of interest to anyone studying or researching issues of diversity in the media Student Engagement Amy L.

Reschly, Angie J. Pohl, Sandra L. Christenson, 2020-03-12 This book provides cutting edge evidence based strategies and interventions that target students engagement at school and with learning Coverage begins with the background and 29 year history of the Check Connect Model and describes the model and assessment of student engagement that served as the backdrop for conceptualizing the engagement interventions described in the book Subsequent chapters are organized around the subtypes of student engagement academic behavioral affective cognitive that were developed based on work with the Check Connect Model Principles and formal interventions are presented at both the universal and more intensive levels consistent with the Response to Intervention Multi Tiered System of Support MTSS framework The book concludes with a summary on the lessons learned from Check Connect and the importance of a system that is oriented toward enhancing engagement and school completion for all students Interventions featured in this book include Peer Assisted Learning Strategies PALS The Homework Organization and Planning Skills HOPS Intervention The Good Behavior Game in the classroom Check in Check out CICO Banking Time a dyadic intervention to improve teacher student relationships The Self Regulation Empowerment Program SREP Student Engagement is a must have resource for researchers professionals and graduate students in child and school psychology educational policy and politics and family studies Executive Function and Education Mariëtte Huizinga, Dieter Baeyens, Jacob A. Burack, 2018-09-21 Executive function is an umbrella term for various cognitive processes that are central to goal directed behavior thoughts and emotions These processes are especially important in novel or demanding situations which require a rapid and flexible adjustment of behavior to the changing demands of the environment The development of executive function relies on the maturation of associated brain regions as well as on stimulation in the child s social contexts especially the home and school Over the past decade the term executive function has become a buzzword in the field of education as both researchers and educators underscore the importance of skills like goal setting planning and organizing in academic success Accordingly in initiating this Research Topic and eBook our goal was to provide a forum for state of the art theoretical and empirical work on this that both facilitates communication among researchers from diverse fields and provides a theoretically sound source of information for educators The contributors to this volume who hail from several different countries in Europe and North America have certainly accomplished this goal in their nuanced and cutting edge depictions of the complex links among various executive function components and educational success based pilot assessment Unequal prior exposure to writing on the computer and preference for mode of writing paper vs computer appear to be associated with this widening of the achievement gap For example about 94 percent of high performing students in 2012 reported having access to the Internet at home compared to about half 52 percent of low performing students The score difference between those with access to the Internet at home and those without was substantive with an effect size of 0.87 The statistics presented in this report are estimates based on a NAEP pilot assessment conducted with a nationally representative sample of 10,400 grade 4 students As a pilot assessment the sample was not adjusted to account for nonresponse bias As a result the sample may not completely represent the grade 4 population The following are appended 1 Exact text of questions in the 2012 NAEP Writing Contextual Questionnaires 2 Tables 3 Tables for Chapter 3 3 Tables for Chapter 4 4 Tables for Chapter 5 and 5 Figures The American Institutes for Research provided technical and editorial services
