How To Report Bad Work Environments:

Paid Care in Australia Debra King, Gabrielle Meagher, 2009 Care for Australia's children and elderly is provided in a mixed economy in which for profit providers are playing an increasingly important role alongside more traditional government and non government organisations Does the growth of for profit provision affect the quality of services or of jobs in paid care Does it change the political dynamics of the social care sector in contemporary welfare states How might service users their families and organisations work together to sustain and improve the quality of care services What theories and evidence help us to understand the process and consequences of the shift toward for profit provision of social care In nine chapters by leading researchers this book explores these and other questions to inform policy and practice in this key field of social policy

Modelling the Stress-Strain Relationship in Work Settings Meni Koslowsky, 2008-02-20 Meni Koslowsky presents here for the first time a way of modelling stress strain that will enable researchers to both assess examples from the literature and correctly define and use the model in their own investigations All stages from construction of the model to data analysis are covered along with possible pitfalls This book enables investigators to develop and test models for describing stress phenomena in their own settings It provides an essential research tool for all those who assess stress and strain in their working lives
