MHF4U1 - Advanced Functions - Course Outline

Course Overview:

This course will extend the students' experience with functions. Students will investigate the properties of polynomials, rational, logarithmic, and trigonometric functions. They will develop techniques for combining functions; broaden their understanding of rates of change; and develop facility in applying these concepts and skills. Students will also refine their use of the mathematical processes necessary for success in senior mathematics. This course is intended both for students taking the Calculus and Vectors course as a prerequisite for a university program and for those wishing to consolidate their understanding of mathematics before proceeding to a variety of university programs.

What will you be expected to learn?

In this course, you will be expected to provide evidence that you can:

Process Expectations:

- Be actively engaged in the following seven processes which are integrated into all areas of the course: problem solving, reasoning and proving, reflecting, selecting tools and computational strategies, connecting, representing, and communicating.

Topics:

EXPONENTIAL AND LOGARITHMIC FUNCTIONS

- demonstrates an understanding of the relationship between exponential expressions and logarithmic expressions; evaluate logarithms, and apply the laws of logarithms to simplify numeric expressions;
- identify and describe some key features of the graphs of logarithmic functions; make connections between the numeric, graphical, and algebraic representations of logarithmic functions, and solve related problems graphically;
- solve exponential and simple logarithmic equations in one variable algebraically, including those arising from real-world applications.

TRIGONOMETRIC

- demonstrate an understanding of the meaning and application of radian measure;
- make connections between trigonometric ratios and the graphical representations of the corresponding trigonometric functions and between trigonometric functions and their reciprocals, and use these connections to solve problems;
- solve problems involving trigonometric identities.

POLYNOMIAL AND RATIONAL FUNCTIONS

- identify and describe some key features of polynomial functions, and make connections between the numeric, graphical, and algebraic representations of polynomial functions;
- identify and describe some key features of the graphs of rational functions, and represent rational functions graphically;
- solve problems involving polynomial and simple rational equations graphically and algebraically;
- demonstrate an understanding of solving polynomial and simple rational inequalities.
