Alan J. Singer,2008-10-26 This popular text advocates an inquiry and activity based view of social studies teaching that respects the points of view of students and teachers Based in practice and experience it offers systematic support and open honest advice for new teachers is conversational not pedantic and provides lots of examples While the structure and most of the topics remain largely the same as before this Third Edition presents new lesson ideas in every chapter especially designed to help new teachers to address learning standards to work in inclusive settings and to promote literacy and the use of technology in social studies classrooms puts a heavier focus on what is important to know and why includes new essays on the politics of social studies education responds to opponents of project or activity based social studies instruction and multicultural education with a sharpened defense of both of these approaches throughout the book Intended as a text for undergraduate and graduate pre service social studies methods courses this text is also useful for in service training programs as a reference for new social studies teachers and as a resource for experienced social studies educators who are engaged in rethinking their teaching practice Making Time for Social Studies Rachel Swarengin,2024-12-17

Elementary teachers often struggle to make time to teach social studies In her book Rachel Swarengin shows how this can be done in all elementary classrooms with the right tools Her unit planning process supports teachers as they unpack social studies standards providing them with strategies and practices specific to social studies that promote students participation and lasting interest Grades K 5 teachers can use this book to Apply the claim evidence reasoning CER approach to their assessments Employ key practices to ensure an enduring understanding of social studies standards Learn primary source analysis strategies to use with students Receive completed sample and planning templates for the K 2 and 3 5 grades Create their own social studies units and daily lesson plans using their completed planning templates Select grade appropriate primary and secondary sources and understand the use of each Contents Introduction Chapter 1 Step 1 Unpacking Social Studies Standards Chapter 2 Step 2 Creating Assessments Chapter 3 Step 3 Choosing and Analyzing Primary Sources Chapter 4 Step 4 Choosing and Analyzing Secondary Sources Chapter 5 Turning Your Unit Into Daily Lesson Plans Epilogue Appendix A Appendix B References and Resources Index Social Studies for Young Children Gayle Mindes,Mark Newman,2021-08-30 This book anchors the social studies as the central unifying force for young children Teachers use the inquiry process to foster child development of social skills and citizenship ideals in their first classroom experiences Curriculum is built starting with children's natural curiosity to foster literacy in all its forms speaking, listening, reading, writing. Along the way, young children acquire knowledge and academic skills in civics, economics, geography, and history. Shown throughout are ways to promote social learning, self-concept development, social skills, and citizenship behaviors. Featured here are individually appropriate and culturally relevant developmental practices. Considered are the importance of family collaboration and the funds of knowledge children bring to early care and education. Contributors to this edition bring expertise from bilingual early education, literacy, special education, and the social studies. Beginning with citizenship and community building, the authors consider all aspects of teaching young children, leading to a progression of capacity to engage civically in school and community. Journal of Social Studies Research, 2012. The Civic Education of American Youth Policy Research Project on Civic Education Policies and Practices, Kenneth W. Tolo, 1999. Civic education plays an essential role in strengthening the democratic society, preparing informed citizens and promoting their participation in the civic life of their communities. This project explores state K-12 civic education policies and related requirements nationwide as well as factors that shape K-12 civic education policies and practices in school districts and schools. The first two chapters of this report provide the national and state contexts for content standards in core subject areas including civics, review state constitutional provisions and statutes that promote civic education and examine how social studies standards, assessment, teacher certification and other state policies build on these provisions and statutes. Recognizing the centrality of state standards, chapters 3 through 5 examine the extent to which the civics content in state standards promotes civic dispositions, civic intellectual skills and civic knowledge respectively. Chapters 6 through 11 examine several influences on civic education at the district level, standards, instructional materials, assessment, professional development, extracurricular and co-curricular activities and individuals, organizations and funding. Chapter 12 provides recommendations for developing sustainable state and school district civics commitments that ensure systematic attention to civic education in grades K-12. Key findings from the project report are included as are extensive chapter notes and 47 tables of data. Seven appendices contain additional information. BT
