DIRECTIONS: Factorise the following fully.

1. $x^2 - 12x + 32$

2. $6x^2 + 18x - 24$

3. $x^2 - 49$

4. $4x^2y^2 - 4xy^2$

5. $2(x + 3) + 8$

6. $1 - 8xy$

DIRECTIONS: Simplify the following by using factorisation.

1. $\frac{15}{x} = \frac{3x^2}{5}$

2. $\frac{25x^2}{x^2} = \frac{25x^2}{x^2}$

3. $\frac{2x^2y^2}{x^2} = \frac{2y^2}{x^2}$

4. $\frac{25x^2}{x^2} = \frac{25x^2}{x^2} = \frac{1}{x}$

QUESTION 1: Study the diagram below and answer the questions that follow. $AC = 120\text{m}$, $AB = 60\text{m}$, $BCDE$ is a square.

1.1. Calculate the length of the unknown side in $\triangle ABC$.

1.2. Calculate the perimeter of shape $ACDE$.

1.3. In $\triangle ABC$ or $\triangle BDC$, determine the values of x and y .

Leading Change in Your School Douglas B. Reeves,2009-04-14 Guiding schools through significant change is one of the toughest challenges educational leaders face but learning from the examples of those who have succeeded can make it less daunting In Leading Change in Your School distinguished author and researcher Douglas B Reeves offers lessons learned through his work with educators in thousands of schools around the world and presents real life examples of leaders who have met the challenge of change head on with impressive results for their schools and districts Readers will also find practical resources for engaging their colleagues in change initiatives Expanding on a number of his columns in the journal Educational Leadership Reeves offers insights ad recommendations in four areas Creating conditions for change including assessments to determine personal and organizational readiness for change Planning change including cautionary notes about strategic planning Implementing change including the importance of moving from rhetoric to day to day reality and Sustaining change including the need to reorient priorities and values so that individual convenience gives way to a shared sense of the greater good The change leaders both teachers and administrators whose stories Reeves tells come from varied districts but they share a passion for creating schools that work for all students They are Reeves says people like you sharing similar challenges but perhaps with different results

The Fate of Liberal Arts in Today's Schools and Colleges

William Hayes,2015-12-11 It is the purpose of this book to examine the ever changing meaning of the term liberal arts and to trace its development from antiquity to the present In doing so the text will compare and contrast the values of such an education with the other important objective of schools and colleges which is to prepare students with appropriate occupational training The book will highlight the arguments of both points of view In doing so attention will be paid to the contributions to society of those who have been exposed to a variety of educational curricula As part of the study the impact of the community college will be considered along with the impact of recent initiatives such as the Nation at Risk Report No Child Left Behind Race to the Top and the Common Core Finally the text will conclude with an attempt to suggest the direction that will determine the fate of liberal arts in schools and colleges system and an advancing understanding of haptic and auditory information processing. Many fundamental questions however remain unanswered. What for example physically constitutes an object? How do specific classically characterizable object boundaries emerge from the physical dynamics described by quantum theory and can this emergence process be described independently of any assumptions regarding the perceptual capabilities of observers? How are visual motion and feature information combined to create object information? How are the object trajectories that indicate persistence to human observers implemented and how are these trajectory representations bound to feature representations? How for example are point light walkers recognized as single objects? How are conflicts between trajectory driven and feature driven identifications of objects resolved for example in multiple object tracking situations? Are there separate what and where processing streams for haptic and auditory perception? Are there haptic and or auditory equivalents of the visual object file? Are there equivalents of the visual object token? How are object identification conflicts between different perceptual systems resolved? Is the common assumption that persistent object is a fundamental innate category justified? How does the ability to identify and categorize objects relate to the ability to name and describe them using language? How are features that an individual object had in the past but does not have currently represented? How are categorical constraints on how objects move or act represented and how do such constraints influence categorization and the re identification of individuals? How do human beings re identify objects including each other as persistent individuals across changes in location context and features even after gaps in observation lasting months or years? How do human capabilities for object categorization and re identification over time relate to those of other species and how do human infants develop these capabilities? What can modeling approaches such as cognitive robotics tell us about the answers to these questions? Primary research reports, reviews and hypothesis and theory papers addressing questions relevant to the understanding of perceptual object segmentation, categorization and individual identification at any scale and from any experimental or modeling perspective are solicited for this Research Topic. Papers that review particular sets of issues from multiple disciplinary perspectives or that advance integrative hypotheses or models that take data from multiple experimental approaches into account are especially encouraged.

ProQuest Statistical Abstract of the United States 2018 ProQuest, Bernan Press, 2017-12-15 The Statistical Abstract of the United States has provided a statistical portrait of social, political, demographic and economic conditions of America since 1878. This 2018 edition continues the heritage begun so long ago by the U.S. government with the U.S. Census Bureau being the last agency to produce the compendium at government expense. Now in our sixth annual edition, Bernan and ProQuest carry on the proud tradition and responsibility of creating the statistical portrait of America. Librarians value the Statistical Abstract as both an answer book and a guide to statistical sources. Long time users of the Statistical Abstract of the United States expect each new edition to carry forward much of the content from prior editions as well as introduce new data as America continues to evolve Our editors are committed to updating the long standing historical statistics as new data becomes available as well as finding new topics to cover The 2018 edition introduces 40 new tables covering a variety of topics such as Health Insurance Enrollment and CoverageMedicare and Medicaid Dual Enrollment and Medicare UtilizationPrescription Psychotherapeutic Drug Use Foodborne Disease Outbreaks and Illnesses Presidential Pardons and CommutationsActive Duty Military Personnel and Veterans Enrolled in Higher EducationFreedom of Information Act FOIA And much more Florida Law Review ,2017-03 Frontiers in the Acquisition of Literacy Claire M. Fletcher-Flinn,2015-09-28 Learning to read and to spell are two of the most important cultural skills that must be acquired by children and for that matter anyone learning a second language We are not born with an innate ability to read A reading system of mental representations that enables us to read must be formed in the brain Learning to read in alphabetic orthographies is the acquisition of such a system which links mental representations of visual symbols letters in print words with pre existing phonological sound and semantic comprehension cognitive systems for language Although spelling draws on the same representational knowledge base and is usually correlated with reading the acquisition processes involved are not quite the same Spelling requires the sequential production of letters in words and at beginning levels there may not be a full degree of integration of phonology with its representation by the orthography Reading on the other hand requires only the recognition of a word for pronunciation Hence spelling is more difficult than reading and learning to spell may necessitate more complete representations or more conscious access to them The learning processes that children use to acquire such cognitive systems in the brain and whether these same processes are universal across different languages and orthographies are central theoretical questions Most children learn to read and spell their language at the same time thus the co ordination of these two facets of literacy acquisition needs explication as well as the effect of different teaching approaches on acquisition Lack of progress in either reading and or spelling is also a major issue of concern for parents and teachers necessitating a cross disciplinary approach to the problem encompassing major efforts from researchers in neuroscience cognitive science experimental psychology and education The purpose of this Research Topic is to summarize and review what has been accomplished so far and to further explore these general issues Contributions from different perspectives are welcomed and could include theoretical computational and empirical works that focus on the acquisition of literacy including cross orthographic research Foreign Service Journal ,2014 Epasa Moto ,2014-06-02 Child Marriage in Humanitarian Settings in the Arab Region Samira Atallah,2016-11-15 This study tackles the issue of female child marriage in the Arab region particularly in conflict and humanitarian settings It explores the causes of this problem with a distinction between such structural determinants as family and community relations and gender roles that have long been present in many Arab countries and such contextual determinants as instability displacement and extreme poverty It also investigates the economic and health effects of child marriage for young brides their children and their communities especially in post conflict contexts The study also provides an overview of national obligations with regard to preventing child marriage as stipulated by international instruments and humanitarian laws It concludes with policy recommendations to address the multifaceted dimensions of child marriage and its implications for the rights of the girl child What Research Really Says about Teaching and Learning to Read Stephen B.
