

IBM Infoprint Server for iSeries V5.3 extends @server iSeries business communications capabilities

Overview

New capabilities in IBM Infoprint Server for iSeries™ V5.3 extend your ability to transform print-centric output to e-business-driven output:

- Intelligent routing: This function provides for dynamic profiling of customers and users with distribution of documents and reports by print, fax, e-mail, and Web.
- User application interface: A new nonprogramming application-enabling interface is added to make it quicker and easier to deploy new business communications applications.
- Web image: This function supports the new document image formats in V5.3. OS/400® V5.3 provides for direct import of standard ASCII image files, such as GIF, TIFF, JPEG, BMP, and PDF, into business output from the Windows™ file system. Infoprint Server PDF services will handle this image content in PDF production.
- File naming, location, and authority: Users of Infoprint Server now have complete control over PDF filenames and IFS locations, easing deployment and improving usability. You can also set the authority level.
- PDF encryption: Encryption of document and report data, along with password protection, broadens the scope of output that can be distributed electronically.

- File size: Enhancements are made in PDF transform services, resulting in significantly reduced file sizes.
- 2D barcode: Two-dimensional barcodes (UPS MaxiCode, PDF417, and DataMatrix) are now supported in PDF.
- Full-color documents: Full-process color images can now be added to documents and flow to PDF files. Color uses the new iSeries highly compressed color image standard, the IOCA FS45 specification, or the Web image file formats.
- Planet barcode: This new zip code variant is supported in PDF.
- PDF orientation: Additional options provide control over the orientation of a document or report in the viewer.
- Transforms optional feature: The PostScript to AFP™ and PDF to AFP transforms are now packaged as a separate optional feature.

Key prerequisites

Infoprint Server for iSeries runs on any IBM AS/400® or iSeries Model 150, or higher.

The PostScript to AFP, PCL to AFP, and PDF to AFP datastream transforms require the PASE environment.

The TIFF to AFP, GIF to AFP, and JPEG to AFP image transforms require a PC running Windows.

At a glance

Infoprint Server for iSeries V5.3 capabilities for electronic business communications and PDF are significantly enhanced. Intelligent routing, the ability to dynamically profile and distribute output in different forms to customers and users, is added. A new interface to business communication functions eases new application deployment.
