May 2013 Ib Paper Geography:

The Chinese Constitution of Central Asia N. Godehardt, 2014-03-21 China's commitments in Central Asia illustrate how regional foreign policy works and how long standing principles of Chinese foreign policy might be revised in the near future. China's rise has moved Asia which is why it seems that what we have traditionally regarded as the geographic and political scope of Asia might actually considerably change in the near future. Nadine Godehardt gives crucial insights into the Chinese expert discourse on Central Asia analyzing how Chinese experts define Central Asia when they talk and write about policy issues related to China's immediate Western neighbourhood. In this context she gives an inside perspective on Chinese voices whose meanings are rarely examined in Chinese International Relations studies. Contemporary Regional Development in Africa Kobena T. Hanson, 2016-03-09 Contemporary Regional Development in Africa interrogates well known concerns in the areas of regionalism and economic integration in contemporary Africa while offering an added uniqueness by highlighting the capacity imperatives of the issues and proposing critical policy guideposts. The volume juxtaposes a set of dynamic entanglements: new and micro regionalism, informal cross border trade, intra African and African FDI, plus cross border investments, infrastructure development, science and technology, regional value chains, conflict management and regional security with fluid interpretations of regional development. The chapters provide snapshots of the several emerging and complex regionalisms and highlight a set of relevant and often overlapping analyses drawing on authors' nuanced and granular understanding of the African landscape. The varied yet interlinked nature of issues covered in this study make the book valuable and attractive to academics, researchers, policymakers and development practitioners. The European Union and the Geopolitics of the Arctic Andreas Raspotnik, 2018-01-26 The Arctic is a region that has seen exponential growth as a space of geopolitical interest over the past decade. This insightful book is the first to analyse the European Union's Arctic policy endeavours of the early 21st Century from a critical geopolitical perspective. Geopolitics and Development Marcus Power, 2019-01-25 Geopolitics and Development examines the historical emergence of development as a form of governmentality from the end of empire to the Cold War and the War on Terror. It illustrates the various ways in which the meanings and relations of development as a discourse, an apparatus and an aspiration have been geopolitically imagined and enframed. The book traces some of the multiple historical associations between development and diplomacy and seeks to underline the centrality of questions of territory, security, statehood and sovereignty to the pursuit of development along with its enrolment in various bordering practices. In making a case for greater attention to the evolving nexus between geopolitics and development and with particular reference to Africa, the book explores the historical and contemporary geopolitics of foreign aid, the interconnections between development and counterinsurgency, the role of the state and social movements in reimagining development, the rise of re-emerging donors like China, India and Brazil and the growing significance of South-South flows of investment, trade and development cooperation. Drawing on post-colonial and postdevelopment approaches and on some of the author's own original empirical research this is an essential critical and interdisciplinary analysis of the complex and dynamic political geographies of global development. Primarily intended for scholars and postgraduate students in development studies, human geography, African studies and international relations, this book provides an engaging, invaluable and up-to-date resource for making sense of the complex entanglement between geopolitics and development, past and present.

Arctic governance Elana Wilson Rowe, 2018-06-08. The volume explores a question that sheds light on the contested but largely cooperative nature of Arctic governance in the post-Cold War period: How does power matter and how has it mattered in shaping cross-border cooperation and diplomacy in the Arctic? The role of power in global governance cooperation has been explored in international relations and political geography literature yet largely overlooked in an Arctic context. Through carefully selected case studies from Russia's role in the Arctic Council to the diplomacy of indigenous peoples' organizations, this book seeks to shed light on how power performances are enacted to constantly shore up Arctic cooperation in key ways. The conceptually driven nature of the inquiry makes the book appropriate reading for courses in international relations and political geography, while the carefully selected case studies lend themselves to courses on Arctic politics. An electronic edition of this book is freely available under a Creative Commons CC BY-NC-ND licence.

Fluid Modernity Gilberto Conde, 2022-10-31. Fluid Modernity offers an innovative encompassing historical grasp of the politics of water in the Middle East in the context of modern capitalism and world politics. Drawing upon conceptions of power by Foucault and Agamben, it examines how water, through its modern capitalist production, is transformed into a water apparatus that binds people to power. In trans-boundary watercourses, states get involved in the formation of international governmentalities. The book revisits the history of fluid modernity in the Middle East from late Ottoman times to the present. It focuses on water conflict and cooperation between states: Israel and Arab states and Turkey, Syria and Iraq; on state policies towards subaltern subjects: Israel and Turkey in relation to Palestinians and Kurds respectively; and on the water politics of rebellious movements. After a conceptual chapter discussing fluid modernity, the book traces water politics in the region in a diachronic perspective. It explores how water diplomacy, infrastructure, loans, reservoir construction, discourses of sovereignty and conflict have weighed on the development of governance and governmentality in the region. Fluid Modernity will be of great interest to postgraduates, researchers, academics and intellectuals interested in Middle East Studies, Hydropolitics, Water and Society, Geopolitics, Political Theory, Resistance, as well as to NGOs dealing with water.

The State of African Cities, 2014 United Nations Human Settlements Programme, 2013. Nairobi: UN Habitat. c2014. 9789211325980. The State of African Cities, 2014 United Nations Publications, 2015-09-10. The African continent is currently in the midst of simultaneously unfolding and highly significant demographic, economic, technological, environmental, urban and socio-political transitions. Africa's economic performance is promising, with booming cities supporting growing middle classes and creating sizable consumer markets. Despite significant overall growth, the continent continues to suffer under very rapid urban growth.

accompanied by massive urban poverty and many other social problems These seem to indicate that the development trajectories followed by African nations since post independence may not be able to deliver on the aspirations of broad based human development and prosperity for all This report therefore argues for a bold re imagining of prevailing models in order to steer the ongoing transitions towards greater sustainability based on a thorough review of all available options That is especially the case since the already daunting urban challenges in Africa are now being exacerbated by the new vulnerabilities and threats associated with climate and environmental change
