in Control Engineering A. R. M. Noton, 2013-09-24 Introduction to Variational Methods in Control Engineering focuses on the design of automatic controls The monograph first discusses the application of classical calculus of variations including a generalization of the Euler Lagrange equations limitation of classical variational calculus and solution of the control problem
The book also describes dynamic programming Topics include the limitations of dynamic programming general formulation of dynamic programming and application to linear multivariable digital control systems The text also underscores the continuous form of dynamic programming Pontryagin's principle and the two point boundary problem The book also touches on inaccessible state variables Topics include the optimum realizable control law observed data and vector spaces design of the optimum estimator and extension to the continuous systems The book also presents a summary of potential applications including complex control systems and on line computer control The text is recommended to readers and students wanting to Microparticle E. James Davis, Gustav Schweiger, 2012-12-06 It has been thirty years since one of the authors EJD began a collaboration with Professor Milton Kerker at Clarkson University in Potsdam New York using light scattering methods to study aerosol processes The development of a relatively short lived commercial particle levitator based on a modification of the Millikan oil drop experiment attracted their attention and led the author to the study of single droplets and solid microparticles by levitation methods The early work on measurements of droplet evaporation rates using light scattering techniques to determine the size slowly expanded and diversified as better instrumentation was developed and faster computers made it possible to perform Mie theory light scattering calculations with ease Several milestones can be identified in the progress of single microparticle studies The first is the introduction of the electrodynamic balance which provided more robust trapping of a particle The electrodynamic levitator which has played an important role in atomic and molecular ion spectroscopy leading to the Nobel Prize in Physics in 1989 shared by Wolfgang Paul of Bonn University and Hans Dehmelt of the University of Washington was easily adapted to trap microparticles Simultaneously improvements in detectors
