The Indian Journal of Agricultural Sciences

, 2013-02 Unnaturally Delicious Jayson Lusk, 2016-03-22 The food discussion in America can be quite pessimistic With high obesity rates diabetes climate change chemical use water contamination and farm animal abuse it would seem that there wasn't very much room for a positive perspective The fear that there just isn't enough food has expanded to new areas of concern about water availability rising health care costs and dying bees In Unnaturally Delicious Lusk makes room for optimism by writing the story of the changing food system suggesting that technology and agriculture can work together in a healthy and innovative way to help solve the world's largest food issues and improve the farming system as we know it. This is the story of the innovators and innovations shaping the future of food. You'll meet an ex-farmer entrepreneur whose software is now being used all over the world to help farmers increase yields and reduce nutrient runoff and egg producers who've created new hen housing systems that improve animal welfare at an affordable price. There are scientists growing meat in the lab. Without the cow, College students are coaxing bacteria to signal food quality and fight obesity. Nutrient-enhanced rice and sweet potatoes are aiming to solve malnutrition in the developing world. Geneticists are creating new wheat varieties that allow farmers sustainably grow more with less. And we'll learn how to get fresh, tasty 3D printed food at the touch of a button, perhaps even delivered to us by a robotic chef. Innovation is the American way. Thomas Jefferson, George Washington, Carver and John Harvey Kellogg were food and agricultural entrepreneurs. Their delicious innovations led to new, healthy, tasty, convenient and environmentally friendly food. The creations were unnaturally delicious. Unnatural because the foods and practices they fashioned were man-made solutions to natural and man-made problems. Now the world is filled with new challenges changing the way we think about food. Who are the scientists, entrepreneurs and progressive farmers who meet these challenges and search for solutions? Unnaturally Delicious has the answers.

Handbook of Water Resources Management: Discourses, Concepts and Examples Janos J. Bogardi, Joyeeta Gupta, K. D. The context of REDD+ in Ethiopia Melaku Bekele, Yemiru Tesfaye, Zerihun Mohammed, Solomon Zewdie, Yibeltal Tebikew, Maria Brockhaus, Habtemariam Kassa, 2015-06-23. Specifically, the paper identifies and analyzes several direct drivers of deforestation and forest degradation in Ethiopia, including forest clearance for both subsistence and large-scale agriculture, illegal and unsustainable extraction of wood, mainly for charcoal and firewood, overgrazing and recurrent forest fires. It also reviews underlying drivers, including rapid population increase and the associated growing demand for land and energy.

extensive legal and institutional gaps including lack of stable and equitable forest tenure lack of stakeholder participation in forest management and benefit sharing schemes and weak law enforcement These drivers and the dominant actors behind them ranging from small scale subsistence farmers to national and global investors are discussed in the context of the political economy including the policy and institutional framework of the country The implications of the overall forest condition to the objectives and requirements of REDD are evaluated and key issues that need to be addressed for efficient effective and equitable implementation of REDD are discussed These key issues include reconciling the apparently contradictory policies and programs particularly those that negatively affect the forestry sector improving the forest tenure and governance system augmenting economic return from forests to communities and individuals creating more efficient and effective forest institutions at all levels and enhancing sectoral and regional coordination among implementing agencies
