

The IMB recommends:

- That the World Health Assembly considers a resolution to declare polio eradication an emergency for global public health (April 2011)⁹
- That leaders of WHO, UNICEF, CDC, Rotary International, and the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation Global Health Program speak in person by teleconference every quarter (April 2011)⁹
- That the program examine the potential for combined IPV/OPV use in stopping transmission (July 2011 onwards)¹⁷
- That vaccinators become the focus of an internal communications drive to engage, train, and motivate them to success (February 2012)¹⁰
- That contingency plans are drawn up to make use of the International Health Regulations to require that people travelling from a polio-affected country have a complete and documented course of vaccination before they are allowed to travel (June 2012)¹¹
- That the program construct and implement a plan to correct its crippling underemphasis on social mobilization and communications (May 2013)¹⁸
- That a global action plan be drawn up, identifying a definitive red list of the countries most vulnerable to polio and actions to protect each of them (October 2013)⁸

Global Guidelines Independent Monitoring Of Polio:

Standard operating procedures: responding to a poliovirus event or outbreak, version 3.1 World Health Organization, 2020-03-31

Estimating and monitoring yellow fever reactive campaign vaccination coverage World Health Organization, 2024-04-16

Yellow fever YF is an acute viral haemorrhagic disease transmitted by infected mosquitoes. YF is prevented by a highly effective safe and affordable vaccine; a single dose of vaccine provides sustained immunity and lifelong protection against YF disease. Unprecedented urban outbreaks in 2016 in Angola and the Democratic Republic of the Congo demonstrated that despite routine immunization challenges remain in ending YF epidemics. Outbreaks occur in Africa and the Americas but there is also increased risk of international spread through viraemic travellers as seen in 2017 with YF cases who travelled to China. The comprehensive global strategy to eliminate Yellow fever epidemics (EYE) is a coalition of partners: Gavi, the Vaccine Alliance, the United Nations Children's Fund and WHO, and affected countries set up in response to these challenges. The EYE Strategy is aligned to face YF's changing epidemiology, the resurgence of mosquitoes and the increased risk of urban outbreaks and international spread.

Global Polio Surveillance Action Plan 2022-2024 World Health Organization, 2022-05-20

Global Polio Eradication Initiative: annual report 2022 World Health Organization, 2024-03-10

Oxford Textbook of Global Public Health Roger Detels, 2015. Sixth edition of the hugely successful internationally recognised textbook on global public health and epidemiology with 3 volumes comprehensively covering the scope, methods and practice of the discipline.

Contributions of the polio network to the COVID-19 response, 2020-09-14

Personnel and infrastructure established through the polio eradication programme with their extensive experience in disease surveillance and responding to outbreaks and other humanitarian emergencies and with trusted outreach networks in the most underserved communities are once again proving their value during the COVID-19 pandemic as highly skilled contributors to national public health capacities. National health programmes in the African, South East Asia and Eastern Mediterranean regions of the World Health Organization (WHO) regions where the Global Polio Eradication Initiative (GPEI) has its largest footprint are relying on polio assets to bolster public health capacities and to help to prepare for the long-term recovery and future resilience that will be needed after the pandemic. The COVID-19 pandemic highlights the urgent need for robust and systematic implementation of plans for the integration of assets and functions so far supported by GPEI into national health systems. As the world reaches closer to polio eradication, resources for the polio programme will decline, putting this valuable network at risk. National governments and development partners have a duty to ensure that sufficient resources are made available to recover from the economic, social and health consequences of COVID-19 and to build robust public health emergency preparedness and response systems to improve countries' resilience. The critical role that polio assets have played in tackling multiple health emergencies and in supporting immunization activities coupled with their contributions in responding to the COVID-19 pandemic and the potential role they can play in the recovery
