Global Monitoring Report 2008 World Bank, 2008-04-14 Global

Monitoring Report 2008 the fifth in an annual series is essential reading for those who wish to follow the global development agenda and debate in 2008 The year marks the midpoint toward the 2015 deadline for achieving the Millennium Development Goals MDGs It is also an important year to work toward a consensus on how the world is going to respond to the challenge of climate change building on the foundation laid at the Bali climate change conference in December 2007 The report spans this agenda It provides a comprehensive assessment of progress toward the MDGs and related policies and actions It addresses the challenge of climate change and environmental sustainability and assesses its implications for development The report's assessment of MDGs at midpoint presents a mixed picture one of both significant progress and formidable challenges The first MDG reducing extreme poverty by half is likely to be met at the global level thanks to a remarkable surge in global economic growth over the past decade But on current trends the human development MDGs are unlikely to be met Prospects are gravest for the goals of reducing child and maternal mortality but shortfalls are also likely in the primary school completion nutrition and sanitation MDGs The potential effects of climate change compound the challenge of achieving the development goals and sustaining progress The report's messages are clear urgent action is needed to help the world get back on track to achieve the MDGs and urgent action is also needed to combat climate change that threatens the well being of all countries but particularly of poor countries and poor people The goals of development and environmental sustainability are closely related and the paths to those goals have important synergies households from escaping extreme poverty The report advocates using agricultural policy to orchestrate a supply response deploying social safety nets to improve resilience strengthening nutritional policy to manage the implications of early childhood development and implementing trade policy to improve access to food markets reduce volatility and induce productivity gains The report acknowledges that one size does not fit all and that the sequencing and prioritization of various policy initiatives depend critically on the initial situation a country or region finds itself in It also discusses support by the international community The world has met two global MDG targets well before the 2015 deadline Estimates based on preliminary surveys indicate that the share of people living in extreme poverty in 2010 was half what it was in 1990 The world has also halved the share of people with no safe drinking water The goal of gender parity in primary and secondary education is on track to be met in 2015 and the goal of ensuring that children everywhere boys and girls alike are able to complete primary school is nearly on track But the MDGs closely linked to food and nutrition particularly those that aim to reduce child and maternal mortality are lagging Global Monitoring Report 2012 was prepared jointly by the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund with consultations and collaborations with regional development banks and other multilateral partners Going Global Michael Moynagh, Richard Worsley, 2008-01-03 In this title the authors examine the meaning and implications of globalisation answering all our questions about today's world in their direct accessible style Key topics covered include climate change terrorism energy communications and business Human Development Report 2007/2008 United Nations Development Programme, 2007-11-15 Human development is about putting people at the center of development It is about people realizing their potential increasing choice and enjoying the freedom to lead the lives they value Created in 1990 the Human Development Report has explored themes including gender equity democracy human rights globalization cultural liberty and water scarcity The past years have witnessed the emergence of a growing consensus on climate change Governments across the world have seen the warning signs The science linking global warming to human activity is unequivocal The economic case for action is compelling the costs of inaction will heavily outweigh the costs of action Yet the politics lags behind the science and the economics Collectively the world's governments are failing to act with the urgency demanded by the scale of the threat The window of opportunity for avoiding dangerous climate change is closing fast This year's Human Development Report explains why we have less than a decade to change course and start living within our global carbon budget It explains how climate change will create long run low human development traps pushing vulnerable people into a downward spiral of deprivation Because climate change is a global problem with global causes and effects it demands a global response with countries acting on the basis of their historic responsibility and capabilities
