Trust-Based Observations Craig Randall,2020-07-30 The results are in observations are not improving teaching and learning Pertinently the Gates Foundation s recently completed effort to improve student outcomes through enhancing the teacher evaluation process failed to achieve substantive improvement The way observations are currently designed serve as an obstacle to teacher risk taking Teachers fear negative evaluations when their pedagogy is rated and they lack faith in being supported by supervisors because a trusting relationship between them and their observer has not been built Trust Based Observations Maximizing Teaching and Learning Growth is a schema changing evaluation model that understands people perform at their best when they feel safe and supported It begins with twelve 20 minute observations per week followed by collegial conversations driven by reflective questions sharing observed teaching strengths and the building of safe and trusting relationships with teachers Add the elimination of rating pedagogical skills and replace it with rating mindset and teachers trust When teachers fully embrace risk taking and innovation it leads to remarkable teaching transformations and improved student learning Preparing Students for Community-Engaged Scholarship in Higher Education Zimmerman, Aaron Samuel,2020-02-01 Community engaged scholarship is an equitable and democratic approach to scholarship that seeks to identify and solve community based problems Community engaged scholars aim to serve the public good by developing and sustaining community campus partnerships built on trust reciprocity and mutual benefit As universities orient themselves towards serving the public good they face a number of challenges faculty and students may not possess the competencies or commitment to build fruitful community partnerships graduate and undergraduate students may lack the necessary training and mentorship required to develop their identity as community engaged scholars and institutional leaders may not know how to motivate faculty and students for this ambitious and challenging endeavor Unless these challenges are addressed universities will fail to prepare the next generation of community engaged scholars Preparing Students for Community Engaged Scholarship in Higher Education is an essential research book that explores how faculty and academic leaders can create learning opportunities and intellectual cultures that support the development of community engaged scholars Additionally it will examine how university coursework can help undergraduate and graduate students to develop the knowledge skills and commitments necessary for productive and responsible community engaged scholarship Featuring a range of topics such as mentorship higher education and service learning this book is ideal for higher education faculty university leaders deans chairs educators administrators policymakers curriculum designers academicians researchers and students Organizational Ethics Craig E. Palumbo, Stefania D'Ascenzo, Luca Tommasi, 2017-04-28 Aftereffects generally occur after a prolonged exposure adaptation to a first stimulus possessing one given property followed by presentation of a stimulus bearing a neutral value of that property The aftereffect consists in a change in appearance of the neutral stimulus following the adapter compared to the appearance of the neutral stimulus when it is perceived without any previous exposure to the adapter The transient phenomena of perceptual aftereffects are believed to depend on the activation of neuron populations that respond selectively to a given property of the stimuli Studying how adaptation occurs which stimulus properties are sensitive to it which timings are necessary whether individual differences modulate its occurrence has thus become an indirect way to probe the plasticity of sensory functions in the nervous system recently extending to more cognitive and representational aspects of neural coding In the last two decades indeed it has been demonstrated that aftereffects occur not only for low level properties of stimuli such as motion color or orientation but also for high level properties Many studies have proven that high level properties of the stimuli e g gender identity ethnicity or age of a face or a voice are sensitive to this phenomenon It has been shown for example that the prolonged exposure to a female or male face produces a gender misperception in the opposite direction when an androgynous face is shown after the adapter Furthermore recent studies have also shown that aftereffects are not strictly contingent upon the physical features that make up stimuli but they seem to run across the high level properties subjects are adapted to These evidences are supported by cross category adaptation studies which underlie how aftereffects occur even across stimuli that do not share physical features e g bodies and faces but that instead share common higher level properties such as gender Given the growing body of research focused on adaptation and aftereffects in high level perception at the boundaries with perceptual learning attention and cognition the purpose of this topic is to provide a picture of the state of the art relative to the specific phenomena of adaptation in high level perceptual processing Critical Ethnic Studies and the Global Pursuit of Justice James Wright, Through a combination of policy analysis interviews with educators and policymakers and case studies from across the United States and beyond Critical Ethnic Studies and the Global Pursuit
