

Science Open Response Rubrics

Many lab activities or quizzes have short answer questions at the end. The final part of each lab is having the students "know" how to write an answer which uses the scientific terminology and contains the needed "evidence" to support their answer.

Questions or Open Response without points

This rubric is designed to encourage student to attempt to respond by answering them with all the relevant science. It is also an excellent resource for providing feedback to the student because it breaks down the answer based on the quality of the response.

Another rubric students can use if no points are given is one of the student writing guides like "I think" boxes" or what the is "reasonable" response", which is different for each student. I have three sample boxes they can use underneath the answer to each question.

Open-Ended Rubric (A)	Accurately answered the question correctly using the required scientific knowledge and reasonable responses with evidence to support the answer.	Correctly answered the question with minor errors related to the required knowledge. Some knowledge is present in the response with evidence to support the answer.	Answered the question but the responses indicate they did not understand the question or did not know the answer.	Not answered the question but the responses indicate they did not know the question or did not understand the question.	No answer to the question.

This rubric is designed to encourage student respond with an answer related to the question even if it is incorrect and no credit is given for a random answer.

Another rubric is use this rubric for students who need to the understand what is a reasonably attempting the answer questions. This is also an excellent rubric when I have students who are working the answer their answer responses for other students.

	4	3	2	1	0
Open-Ended Rubric (B)	Accurately answered the question correctly using the required scientific knowledge and reasonable responses with evidence to support the answer.	Correctly answered the question with minor errors related to the required knowledge. Some knowledge is present in the response with evidence to support the answer.	Correctly answered the question using general knowledge that was not taught but the responses used evidence to support the answer.	Answered the question but the responses used responses that did not support the question.	Answered the question but the responses did not support the question.
