Gender, Communications, and Reproductive Health in International Development Carolina Matos, 2023-06-15 To this day women globally are subjected to forms of control over their bodies and their ability to exercise their reproductive rights in particular is still constrained Amid a rise of challenges to the advancement of women s rights including the recent overturning of Roe v Wade in the United States sexual and reproductive health rights are at the forefront of conversations about the advancement of gender equality To determine how communications are used strategically to shape policy Carolina Matos explores fifty two feminist and health NGOs from across the world and how they are improving discourse on sexuality and reproductive health in the public sphere She investigates how these organizations are making use of communications amid various contemporary challenges including the proliferation of misinformation about women s rights and health in the public sphere due to the actions of oppositional far right nationalist groups Through original in depth interviews within the NGOs and empirical research of the institutions online presences Matos unpacks the complexities of the relationship between women s health communications and development contributing to the fields of development health communications and gender studies and advancing the debate on the role of feminist NGOs in advocating for women's rights. With a postcolonial critique of the role of NGOs in development, Matos illuminates the strategic use of communications in the mediation and advocacy of gender equality and reproductive health. Colonial Legacies and Arab-Majority Regions Ali Kassem, 2026-01-29. How do colonial legacies shape contemporary realities in the Arab majority region? What possibilities exist for decolonial futures? This groundbreaking volume brings together interdisciplinary explorations of the enduring colonial condition in the Arab majority region, moving beyond reductive analyses and engaging deeply with a variety of histories, lived experiences, and theoretical tools. Across its chapters, the collection exposes how various structures and institutions operating at diverse sites and scales constitute a contemporary entangled coloniality and offers pathways and resources towards moving beyond this from for and contra the region. In the shadow of ongoing colonial violence, this collection is both an urgent critique and a hopeful call for new ways of knowing and reimagining the future of the Arab majority region. Organization, 2022-04-30. The PMNCH 2021 Annual Report focuses on progress and equity for women, children, and adolescents in the context of the COVID 19 pandemic. Hosted by the World Health Organization (WHO), the report documents efforts to prioritize these groups in global health responses, emphasizing the importance of addressing inequities in health outcomes. It highlights PMNCH's initiatives, including mobilizing significant financial commitments and amplifying voices of affected communities. The report also underscores the importance of youth engagement in health governance and advocacy. The intended audience includes policymakers, health advocates, and organizations involved in global health and equity initiatives. The Partnership for Maternal, Newborn & Child Health 2020 annual report, 2021-07-12. In 2020, the COVID 19 pandemic struck, driving PMNCH partners to regroup and adopt measures to prevent the pandemic from becoming a lasting crisis for women, children, and adolescents. The PMNCH Annual Report presents highlights of the work done in 2020 to ensure that underserved and vulnerable groups received greater investments, effective policies, and improved services. Menstruation in Nepal Sara Parker, Kay Standing, Madhusudan Subedi, 2024-06-28. This book examines the complexities of menstrual beliefs and practices in Nepal. Taking an interdisciplinary and intersectional approach, it explores and promotes the rights of women, girls, and people who menstruate to a dignified and healthy menstruation. The volume collates current research in Nepal from local academics, early career researchers, and the Dignity Without Danger research project. It provides a more nuanced understanding of the complex stigmas and taboos that surround menstruation, highlights the importance of rethinking ideas of religion, gender, menstruation, stigma, and taboos, and proposes a counter narrative that places sociological studies at the heart of the discussion surrounding menstruation and calls for more collaborative action research to strengthen the links between academia and activism across disciplines An authoritative contribution the book will be of interest to scholars and researchers of gender studies public health sociology human rights South Asian studies medical sociology cultural studies and social medicine particularly for those concerned with Nepal Reproductive & Sexual Health Rights in Cameroon, Egypt, Ghana, Malawi, and Rwanda Roselynn Musa,Atieno Ndomo,2007 Promises and Realities African Centre for Technology Studies,African Women and Child Feature Service,2009 Accompanying DVD entitled Gender issues in the Kenyan society International Non-governmental Organisations, Foundations, and Trusts in Viet Nam ,2006 The New Demographic Regime United Nations.
