Guardian Media Guide 2007:

The Future of Newspapers Bob Franklin, 2013-09-13 The future of newspapers is hotly contested Pessimistic pundits predict their imminent demise while others envisage a new era of participatory journalism online with yet others advocating increased investment in quality journalism rather than free gifts and DVDs as the necessary cure for the current parlous state of newspapers Globally newspapers confront highly variable prospects reflecting their location in different market sectors countries and journalism cultures But despite this diversity they face similar challenges in responding to the increased competition from expansive radio and 24 hour television news channels the emergence of free Metro papers the delivery of news services on billboards pod casts and mobile telephony the development of online editions as well as the burgeoning of blogs citizen journalists and User Generated Content Newspapers revenue streams are also under attack as advertising increasingly migrates online This authoritative collection of research based essays by distinguished scholars and journalists from around the globe brings together a judicious mix of academic expertise and professional journalistic experience to analyse and report on the future of newspapers This book was published as special issues of Journalism Practice and Journalism Studies

Careers in Media and Film Georgina Gregory, Ros Healy, Ewa Mazierska, 2008-01-07 Written for students graduates and academics from the disciplines of film media and related subjects and for those from other disciplines who want to break into the media this book is a virtual career coach and an employability course all in one package A practical handbook it offers encouragement advice information and case studies to help students to make the most of the opportunities in this very competitive career world The book can be used as a textual support for careers modules and PDP Personal Development Planning graduate workshops on line courses and as a departmental or careers library resource Equally it works effectively as a self help guide to enable individuals to focus on their career life development

The Ownership of the News Great Britain: Parliament: House of Lords: Select Committee on Communications, 2008 This report examines the impact that media ownership can have on the news and the effect of consolidation on the newspaper television and radio industries The newspaper industry is facing severe problems as readership levels fall young people turn to other sources of news and advertising moves to the internet Newspaper companies are having to make savings and this is having a particular impact on investment in news gathering and investigative journalism In television news the same trends are evident Most news programmes have smaller audiences than they had ten years ago younger people in particular are watching less television news commercial television channels are losing advertising revenue to the internet New media in particular the internet are having a major impact on the way news is produced and consumed but the traditional forms of news are likely to be the most popular sources of news for the foreseeable future The proliferation of news sources has not been matched by a corresponding expansion in professional and investigative journalism Owners can and do influence the news in a variety of ways They are in a position to have significant political impact The consolidation of media ownership adds to the risk of disproportionate influence The Committee recommends reform of the public interest test criteria for newspaper mergers and also believes that reforming cross media ownership restrictions on regional and local newspaper and radio mergers is necessary The Committee does not consider changes in ownership regulation and competition law to be enough if the aim is to ensure a range of voices and high quality news The public service broadcasting system in the United Kingdom provides an invaluable news service for the citizen and it is crucial that the contribution of all the public service broadcasters is maintained

Climate Change and the Media Tammy Boyce, Justin Lewis, 2009 It is now more than a quarter of a century since the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change published their first comprehensive report on the dangers posed by anthropogenic global warming Over the last twenty five years the weight of evidence about the causes and consequences of climate change has become compelling The solutions are fairly simple we must switch to more sustainable and efficient forms of energy production And yet they remain elusive globally we produce significantly more greenhouse gases now than we did back in 1990 The sad truth is that this inaction has made climate change inevitable the only question that remains is whether we can prevent it spiraling out of control How do we explain this colossal global failure The problem is political rather than scientific we know the risks and we know how to address them but we lack the political will to do so The media are pivotal in this equation they have the power to set the public and the political agenda Climate Change and the Media Volume 2 gathers contributions from a range of international scholars to explore the media's role in our understanding of the problem and our willingness to take action Combined these chapters explain how and why media coverage has to date fallen short in communicating both the science and the politics of climate change They also offer guidance about how the media might shift from being the problem to becoming part of the solution
