Seducing the Eighteenth-Century French Reader Paul J. Young, 2016-12-05 As he demonstrates that narratives of seduction function as a master plot for French literature in the eighteenth century Paul Young argues that the prevalence of this trope was a reaction to a dominant cultural discourse that coded the novel and the new practice of solitary reading as dangerous seductive practices Situating his study in the context of paintings educational manuals and criticism that caution against the act of reading Young considers both canonical and lesser known works by authors that include Rousseau Sade Bastide Laclos Crillon and the writers of two widely read libertine novels How these authors responded to a cultural climate that viewed literature and especially the novel as seductive sheds light on the perils and pleasures of authorship the ways in which texts interact with the larger cultural discourse and what eighteenth century texts tell us about the dangers of reading or writing Ultimately Young argues the seduction not in the text but by the text raises questions about the nature of pleasure in eighteenth century French literature and culture

Investigating Translation Allison Beeby, Doris Ensinger, Marisa Presas, 2000-12-08 This volume brings together a selection of papers presented at an international conference on Translation Studies in Barcelona in 1998 The papers illustrate four areas that are of particular interest in translation research today in Europe Asia and Latin America The purpose of the first section Investigating Translation Paradigms is to reach a critical revision of existing paradigms and to develop new ones in approaching the translated text The second section Investigating the Translation Process focuses on the skills knowledge and strategies that make up translation competence The third section Investigating Translation and Ideology addresses not only the invisible influence of ideologies on the translator but also the role of translators in transmitting ideology The fourth section Investigating Translation Receivers envisages translators as communicators caught between the opposing trends of localisation and globalisation This tension can be seen in the selection of the papers some of which reflect on research carried out in recently established translation centres in Spain while others discuss the latest work of scholars from long established centres in other countries
