Modern Mathematics Dirk De Bock, 2023-03-08 The international New Math developments between about 1950 through 1980 are regarded by many mathematics educators and education historians as the most historically important development in curricula of the twentieth century It attracted the attention of local and international politicians of teachers and of parents and influenced the teaching and learning of mathematics at all levels kindergarten to college graduate in many nations After garnering much initial support it began to attract criticism But as Bill Jacob and the late Jerry Becker show in Chapter 17 some of the effects became entrenched This volume edited by Professor Dirk De Bock of Belgium provides an outstanding overview of the New Math modern mathematics movement Chapter authors provide exceptionally high quality analyses of the rise of the movement and of subsequent developments within a range of nations The first few chapters show how the initial leadership came from mathematicians in European nations and in the United States of America The background leaders in Europe were Caleb Gattegno and members of a mysterious group of mainly French pure mathematicians who since the 1930s had published under the name of a fictitious Nicolas Bourbaki In the United States there emerged during the 1950s various attempts to improve U S mathematics curricula and teaching especially in secondary schools and colleges This side of the story climaxed in 1957 when the Soviet Union succeeded in launching Sputnik the first satellite Undoubtedly this is a landmark publication in education The foreword was written by Professor Bob Moon one of a few other scholars to have written on the New Math from an international perspective The final epilogue chapter by Professor Geert Vanpaemel a historian draws together the overall thrust of the volume and makes links with the general history of curriculum development especially in science education including recent globalization trends

Developing Mathematical Literacy in the Context of the Fourth Industrial Revolution Espinosa, Edgar Oliver Cardoso, 2021-03-12 In the context of the Fourth Industrial Revolution a world of continuous alterations is glimpsed where science and technology are at the base of economic competitiveness and where innovation plays a strategic role in global competition so that they are forced to cover a series of requirements to compete successfully in an increasingly globalized economy including high investments in both education and research Along these lines the formation of mathematical learning is important because it is oriented towards the development of a set of skills with the aim of resolving situations of daily and professional lives It focuses on the acquisition of employing the different ways of representing information in the form of models constructions and graphs to determine the best decision making In this sense it includes the mastery of the handling of numbers measures and structures to carry out the interpretation of operations and representations of a quantitative nature on personal and professional situations For a society to favor innovation the use of mathematical information is an essential condition that allows the development of creativity and analysis of information Mathematics education plays a vital role in this development Developing Mathematical Literacy in the Context of the Fourth Industrial Revolution studies the formation of mathematical abilities in the context of the Fourth Industrial Revolution regarding its development of both teaching and learning strategies as well as the use of ICT and its use in the development of this discipline in students. It is important that teachers of any educational level reorient their teaching strategies and their role as educators. Contemporary Issues in Multicultural and Global Education Msengi, Clementine M., Lartey, Grace K., Sprott, Katherine R., 2022-05-13. In response to the COVID 19 pandemic, many educational institutions across the globe had to close in-person learning and turn to online learning. Previous predictions on the future of education discussed the globalization of education through online learning that breaks down geographical barriers. However, many students, parents and educators are still finding it challenging to adapt to new methods of instruction. Creating global and multicultural classrooms creates additional challenges, especially when considering diverse at-risk and low-income student populations. Further study of these challenges is required to improve the future of global education. Contemporary Issues in Multicultural and Global Education discusses research strategies, best practices and insights dealing with important issues related to multicultural and global education. Covering topics such as remote learning and sustainable leadership, this premier reference source is ideal for educators, policymakers, administrators, curriculum designers, researchers, academicians and students.

courses in specialized subject matter is to be sought not so much in the content as in the classroom procedure for applying this content in a practical way to the solution of problems on which the student is working It cannot be stated too emphatically that the teacher is not required to cover any prescribed minimum or core of work The really important thing is that students be kept working at Optimum efficiency throughout the year on meaningful problems which have some practical interest for them The aim is not to enforce a standard but to increase the students understanding and practical efficiency
