Grey Seeming Very Short Stories:

Grey Seeming Haitham Abdalla, 2014-11-26 51 fun sized stories that are just right for today's busy lifestyle. Although the stories in Grey Seeming differ in terms of length but there is cohesion to all the stories as they all touch on topics that are not clearly one thing or the other or where the border between the two is fuzzy or issues that are open to interpretation. Some of the stories are fusion between narrative and poetry some are behaved and some break a rule or two. Each story presents a unique situation and aims to help you notice the grey areas we face on our daily dealings and also to help you know when to let a little grey in and when to default to black and white. I believe a flash fiction story has to be free from the confines of a well behaved syntax should be either funny or shocking should leave room for the reader's imagination and should have a high repeat value. I have strived to achieve these in all the stories in this collection. Includes The Life Cycle of a Cabbie s Smile National Sport The Annoying Wishes Some Things Never Change And many more

Seeing Red Mark Cronlund Anderson, Carmen L. Robertson, 2011-09-02. The first book to examine the role of Canada's newspapers in perpetuating the myth of Native inferiority. Seeing Red is a groundbreaking study of how Canadian English language newspapers have portrayed Aboriginal peoples from 1869 to the present day. It assesses a wide range of publications on topics that include the sale of Rupert's Land the signing of Treaty 3 the North West Rebellion and Louis Riel the death of Pauline Johnson the outing of Grey Owl the discussions surrounding Bill C 31 the Bended Elbow standoff at Kenora Ontario and the Oka Crisis The authors uncover overwhelming evidence that the colonial imaginary not only thrives but dominates depictions of Aboriginal peoples in mainstream newspapers The colonial constructs ingrained in the news media perpetuate an imagined Native inferiority that contributes significantly to the marginalization of Indigenous people in Canada That such imagery persists to this day suggests strongly that our country lives in denial failing to live up to its cultural mosaic boosterism The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art ,1911 The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science, Art, and Finance ,1894 Saturday Review ,1894 Book Review Digest ,1928

Postmodern Fiction and the Break-Up of Britain Hywel Dix,2011-11-03 This study explores how British identity has been explored and renegotiated by contemporary writers It starts by examining the new emphasis on space and place that has emerged in recent cultural analysis and shows how this spatial emphasis informs different literary texts Having first analysed a series of novels that draw an implicit parallel between the end of the British Empire and the break up of the unitary British state the study explores how contemporary writing in Northern Ireland Scotland and Wales contributes to a sense of nationhood in those places and so contributes to the break up of Britain symbolically Dix argues that the break up of Britain is not limited to political devolution in Northern Ireland Scotland and Wales It is also an imaginary process that can be found occurring on a number of other conceptual coordinates Feminism class regional identities and ethnic communities are all terrains on which different writers carry out a fictional questioning of received notions of Britishness and so contribute in different ways to the break up of Britain A little grey sheep Mrs. Hugh Fraser,1901 British
