

Florida Anti-Abortion Center Funding

EQUITY
FORWARD

When someone is making a decision about continuing or ending a pregnancy, they should be able to get accurate information about all their options so they can decide what is best for themselves. Anti-abortion centers (AACs) do not support pregnant people and families. Instead, they serve as a barrier to parental support and legitimate health care, including abortion access.

Florida is one of many states that funds AACs with taxpayer dollars. Equity Forward estimates that since 1995, states have allocated a combined total of more than $1.13 billion in tax dollars to AACs through state-run Alternative to Abortion programs or via other funding streams. In several places, millions of federal Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) dollars, which are meant to support families working to make ends meet, instead get diverted to AACs.

Period of Funding: FY 2006 - Present

Current Funding: $30,052,845

Estimated Funding Over Time: $112,552,845

Supporting Deceptive Practices:

Anti-abortion centers exist in order to delay or deter pregnant people from getting abortion care.

When searching “I need an abortion Florida,” Hope Women’s Centers, an AAC that received $100,000 in tax-dollars, appeared among the Google results.

Funding Propaganda:

Anti-abortion centers spend tax dollars on marketing and propaganda.

The anti-abortion movement has invested millions in SEO (search engine optimization) to serve people ads that look like legitimate abortion providers but are instead AACs.

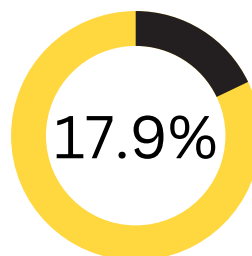

Florida Pregnancy Care Network spent a quarter of a million in tax dollars on SEO, paid advertising, and marketing strategy in its 2022-23 budget to target people with deceptive ads.

Anti-Abortion Centers Do Not Address The Maternal Care Crisis:

Anti-abortion centers don't contribute to ameliorating health inequities.

Nationwide, Florida has the 19th highest maternal mortality rate and 22nd highest infant mortality rate.

Of all Florida counties, 17.9% are considered maternity care deserts.

Take Action - End Tax Dollars From Flowing To Anti-Abortion Centers

Funding AACs siphons money away from low-income individuals and those in need of quality health care, and instead places it in the hands of organizations that spread biased, false, and harmful information — and have been left unchecked far too long.

Reallocation:

Tax dollars should go to programs that provide the support parents and pregnant people need.

Instead of funneling money to programs that spend more on propaganda than services, states can fund people getting health care, accurate information, and access to all of their options, including abortion, adoption, and meaningful support for parents to raise children once they are born.

Regulation:

States must engage in greater scrutiny, investigation, and regulation of AACs, especially those that rely on taxpayer dollars. AACs should not be allowed to engage in unscrupulous tactics and should be required to be transparent about their use of funds and operations.
