

Utah Anti-Abortion Center Funding

When someone is making a decision about continuing or ending a pregnancy, they should be able to get accurate information about all their options so they can decide what is best for themselves. Anti-abortion centers (AACs) do not support pregnant people and families. Instead, they serve as a barrier to parental support and legitimate health care, including abortion access.

Utah is one of many states that funds AACs with taxpayer dollars. Equity Forward estimates that since 1995, states have allocated a combined total of more than $1.13 billion in tax dollars to AACs through state-run Alternative to Abortion programs or via other funding streams. In several places, millions of federal Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) dollars, which are meant to support families working to make ends meet, instead get diverted to AACs.

Period of Funding: FY 2025 - Present

Current Funding: $645,000

Estimated Funding Over Time: $645,000

Funding Propaganda:

Anti-abortion centers use tax dollars for marketing instead of support.

States are allocating funds towards anti-abortion messaging instead of directing resources to address the various crises affecting our communities.

The Pregnancy Resource Center of Salt Lake, which received $200,000 in state funds for FY 2025, asked the state legislature for funding to “hir[e] more nurse sonographers” to target people who have taken abortion medication. The AAC also asked the state for funding to expand “Sexual Risk Avoidance” programming in Utah school districts, a harmful approach to sexual education that is not evidence-based.

In documents sent to Utah’s state legislature, the Pregnancy Resource Center of Salt Lake detailed an uptick in members of im/migrant communities visiting their centers, indicating that targeting this demographic would be a continued priority for the center.

Supporting Deceptive Practices:

Anti-abortion centers exist in order to delay or deter pregnant people from getting abortion care.

In Utah, anti-abortion centers outnumber in-person abortion clinics 8 to 4, but AACs are not a replacement for health care services, nor are they able to support pregnant people or parents.

Anti-Abortion Centers Do Not Address The Maternal Care Crisis:

Anti-abortion centers don't contribute to ameliorating health inequities.

Nationwide, Utah has the 33rd highest maternal mortality rate and the 36th highest infant mortality rate.

Of all Utah counties, 24.1% are considered maternity care deserts.

Take Action — End Tax Dollars From Flowing To Anti-Abortion Centers

Funding AACs siphons money away from low-income individuals and those in need of quality health care, and instead places it in the hands of organizations that spread biased, false, and harmful information — and have been left unchecked far too long.

Reallocation:

Tax dollars should go to programs that provide the support parents and pregnant people need.

Instead of funneling money to programs that spend more on propaganda than services, states can fund people getting health care, accurate information, and access to all of their options, including abortion, adoption, and meaningful support for parents to raise children once they are born.

Regulation:

States must engage in greater scrutiny, investigation, and regulation of AACs, especially those that rely on taxpayer dollars. AACs should not be allowed to engage in unscrupulous tactics and should be required to be transparent about their use of funds and operations.
